Academic staff perceptions of student plagerism and academic integrity policies

A

"The unattributed use of someone else's words, creations, ideas and arguments as one's own..."

R

"To knowingly or unknowingly present as one's own work the ideas or writings of another without appropriate acknowledgment or referencing..."

Identify your university's definition of PLAGERISM

"Presenting the work or property of another person as one's own and without appropriate acknowledgment or referencing"

D

"Inappropriate/inadequate acknowledgment, verbatim copying, ghost writing and purloining"

Procedures for dealing with student plagerism are easy to follow

Staff in my department understand student plagerism in the same way I do My university's policy on student plagerism is easy to understand

I use my discretion when responding to student plagerism

What do you think?

Student plagerism is on the rise

There's a lot of time and effort required to respond to student plagerism

